

Special Needs Lending Library

Together we can ensure that all children succeed

How do I know what I need to best meet the individual needs of children in the classroom?

We all want children to feel included, loved, and successful in our early childhood learning environments. Sometimes that means that we need to make specific materials available to best support every child's needs so that they can reach their full potential.

How do we know what to get? What will work in the classroom?

The Special Needs Lending Library allows early childhood professionals to try different adaptations, modifications, and assistive materials within the classroom setting to see what works. Informed decisions can then be made on what materials to invest in to best meet the needs of the children.
